Quick answers to the common bumps.

Claude Code will not start, or I do not have it.

Install it free from claude.com/claude-code, then open Terminal and type `claude`. If you get stuck, that is normal, ask in the group and someone will get you through it.

It stopped partway. Did I lose my progress?

No. It saves as it goes and skips anything already done. Just run `/content-brain` again and it picks up right where it left off.

How long does this take?

The interview is a few minutes. The downloads and transcription then run on their own, so a big back catalog can take a while. You can walk away and come back, it keeps going in the background.

Obsidian did not open my vault.

Open Obsidian, choose "Open folder as vault," and pick your vault folder. Content Brain tells you the exact location.

Where is all my stuff?

In your vault folder on your Mac, at the path it gave you. Everything is plain files inside there, yours to keep.

I made more content since I ran it. How do I add it?

Run `/content-brain` again. It is resumable and picks up new material, you do not start over.

Something failed to transcribe.

It lists any failures by name. Just retry, it re-attempts only the ones that did not finish.

Do I need to be technical?

No. It does the technical work for you, explains each step in plain English, and asks before it touches anything.
